Stormy weather greeted the 60 or so cyclists that ventured to Marty Busch Reserve this week. However, the howling winds and threatening skies did little to dampen the enthusiasm of those present. Stand outs for the day were the ever improving Dave Habicht who has gone from rank novice to serious A Grade competitor in less than a month. In the A Grade Scratch race no-one could match his straight line speed and for the first time no-one could drop him either. The other stand outs for the evening were the two D Grade girls; Victoria Snibson and Emma Bilston. Their elimination race had the crowd on its feet with sprint after sprint coming down to the wire. In the end it was Emma who got the last one to take a most entertaining event. With Country Champs coming up at the end of the month all of the serious racers are working hard to fine tune their skills in the championship events.
